comprei este jogo barato e os gr\u00e1ficos s\u00e3o razo\u00e1veis mas a estabilidade deixa muito a desejar, em vinte e dois minutos de jogo crashou duas vezes, exactamente no mesmo lugar, no primeiro mapa. Mesmo que eu goste de dar suporte a equipes de jogos indie, especialmente de pa\u00edses onde quase n\u00e3o existe equipes a fazer jogos, neste dia e idade n\u00e3o tenho paciencia para fazer de "bug tester". Eu estava pronto para perdoar a jogabilidade simplistica, tamb\u00e9m a Hist\u00f3ria simplistica e at\u00e9 "voice acting" mau, que at\u00e9 \u00e9 mais ou menos na minha opini\u00e3o, mas o que n\u00e3o posso perdoar \u00e9 um jogo inst\u00e1vel que crasha muito. Infelizmente devido a este facto vou ter de dizer que n\u00e3o recomendo o jogo.

Even tho I bought it cheap and it looks good, its stability leaves something to be desired, in 22 minuts of play crashed two times exactly in the same spot in the first level and even tho I love to support indie teams, specially from countries where game developement is almost non existent, on this day and age I have no patience to be a bug tester anymore. I was ready to forgive the simplistic gameplay, simplistic story and even bad voice acting, if that was the case that is not but I just can't forgive a unstable crash prone game. So unfortunatly i will have to not recomend this game.

Sorry for the bad english not my mother language.. I know I know. I only played for about half an hour. So I won't be too harsh and I expect to come back to this review.
HOWEVER from my initial playthrough I felt almost let down. I thought I was looking at a low budget Gears of War with a whole new love for the sci-fi story line of post-apoc earth from an extraterrestrial invasion. Yet this plays like an old school Medal of Honor game. There seems to be very basic features and limited capabilities as far as character movement and enviroment design.

What really bothered me initially was the enviroment was non-destructible which sucks, but not a total killer. But then I cant jump over some basic obstacles and I can't move through small spots that seems like you would be able to manage going through.

Then bugs... I mean come on. This was on that damn first level. I go to destroy an antenna and I go for the right one first. I can't blow the damn thing up. I try to put a charge, but I then think to myself "Maybe I need to find some?" So I go looking around for some charges until I get to the left antenna. I just go up to it and place the charge with no problems: "Ok, so I just got to do it from left to right?" So I go back to the right antenna and still can't do anything. Won't budge. So I am just messing around and begin to get frustrated and show it by humping and clicking the "Use\/Place" button until something happens. As I am humping this antenna I all of a sudden go into this quick animation of placing the charge on the antenna and LO AND BEHOLD it blows up.

After meeting up with our "Boss" and killing off some waves of baddies I begin to feel like this game isn't worth playing. I think about the other games I got on the Winter Sale and how I would rather play those. So that is what I am going to do.

I will definitely come back to this game to give this review justice and hopefully complete the game. But for now I just feel uncomfortable playing. It's like getting a a bunch of great toys as a kid and then getting a pink bunny onsie from your aunt and just sitting in the onsie and thinking "Why am I sitting in this? I have \u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665ing toys! I'm going to play with my toys. Maybe this onsie will be in fashion later..."
